This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PUBLISHER'S NOTE.

THE organization of the John Bean Association in 1896, followed by annual meetings, have called together many descendants of the original settlers, heretofore strangers, thereby enlarging friendship's circle and offering special opportunities for the enjoyment of social intercourse.

The leader in the organization was the Honorable Josiah Hayden Drummond of Portland, whose connection with the family takes date from his marriage, December 10, 1850, with Elzada Rollins, daughter of Benjamin Wadleigh Bean[6].

Mr. Drummond was a diligent student of family history, the president of the association, and the largest contributor with tongue and pen to the objects of the organization. The proceedings of several of the meetings have been published under his editorial supervision, and are rich in historical notes, the results of his patient research.

It was the wish of his heart that an up-to-date genealogy of the family should be collected and printed, and this wish was most heartily seconded by many others, especially by Dearborn Gorham Bean[8], Esq., of East Wilton, the efficient secretary of the association, who not only offered assistance in collecting family records, but guaranteed such pecuniary aid as was necessary to publish such information as could be obtained of the descendants of his ancestor, Joshua Bean[4], if Mr. Drummond would superintend the publication. This book is the result of that arrangement.

The sudden death of Mr. Drummond, October 25, 1902, interrupted the work, but Mr. Bean concluded it best to continue the publication by adding such notes as Mr. Drummond had left in manuscript, sincerely regretting that the work could not have had the advantage of Mr. Drummond's errata and addenda.

EXETER, BRENTWOOD AND GILMANTON.

On January 21, 1661, (N. S.) the town of Exeter made a grant of land to JOHN BEAN, who not long previously had come to that town to settle. Of his previous history nothing is known; but he was a Presbyterian and very certainly of Scottish descent. He was married before he came to this country and had at least one child; but according to tradition his wife died on the voyage and he married again; nothing is known of his first wife, and but little of his second save that her given name was Margaret, that she joined the Hampton church in 1671, was dismissed from that church September 11, 1698, to aid in organizing one at Exeter, September 21, 1698, of which she was a member in 1705. John Bean died in 1718, having survived his wife.

Among their eleven children (two of whom died in infancy) was JAMES[2], born in Exeter, December 17, 1672, by a wife, whose name is unknown, had two sons, the older of whom was named John for his grandfather whose favorite he seems to have been. JAMES[2] by a second wife had several other children.

This son JOHN[3] was the fourth of the name in Exeter and in deeds was styled "John, ye fourth." The maiden name of his wife is not known further than that her given name was Sarah. They named one of their sons

"Sinkler"—indicating that John's mother or Sarah's father was a Sinkler, a family living in Exeter and already connected with the Bean family by marriage.

JOHN[3] and SARAH BEAN had a son Joshua[4].

The author of the history of Gilmanton assumed that JOSHUA[4] was the grandson of JOHN[1] and the son of JOHN[2]. But JOHN[1] conveyed certain real estate to John Bean "my beloved grandson of the same Exeter the son of my son James Bean," and the deeds tracing the title to this real estate and that for which it was exchanged, show conclusively that the John Bean, who was the father of Joshua[4], was this "beloved grandson," so that the correct line is Joshua[4], John[3], James[2], John[1].*

Lydia Bean[5], according to an old manuscript, married Jonathan Dow and had five children; and Immediately after their marriage, Benjamin Mudgett and his wife started for Gilmanton, where he had taken up a lot and arranged to settle; they reached their house on the evening of Dec. 26, 1761, both travelling the last twelve miles on snow shoes; his wife was the first white woman to set foot in that town.

Samuel Mudgett[6] married Phebe Merrill, daughter of Enoch Merrill, by his second wife; they lived a while in Gilmanton, but later moved to Newburgh, Maine, where a part of their children were born. They were married November 27, 1763; they lived in Gilmanton till 1784, when they moved to Winthrop now Readfield; he died there April 25, 1814, aged seventy-three, and she, October 8, 1822, aged seventy-nine.

He was a Quaker; he signed approving the Declaration of Independence, and consenting to be taxed, but could not conscientiously bear arms.

While tradition has it that Joshua Bean[5] moved to Winthrop (now Readfield) in 1784, there are facts which indicate with great certainty that the removal was at an earlier date. He was one of the Selectmen of Winthrop in 1784, 1786 and 1790; Moderator of Town Meeting in 1784, 1785, 1786, 1787 (twice) and in 1791. He was Representative to the General Court in 1787, when a movement to divide the town was made and the town voted "to send by Mr. Bean, their representative to the General Court to have it effected;" but the division was not made till 1791. He was also sent a Delegate in 1786 to attend a Convention in Falmouth to consider the question of the separation of Maine from Massachusetts.

As JOSHUA[5] married his cousin, MARY[5], their descendants have a double line back to JOHN[1], the immigrant. They are descended from SINKLER[4], equally as from JOSHUA[4], but in this account only the male line is given.

† 747. Nelson Shepard[9], b. July 18, 1845.

Nelson Shepard Bean[9], married, July 7, 1869, Ella Frances Blanchard, daughter of Sidney and Cordelia M. [Galloupe] Blanchard, born April 13, 1848; he died April, 1900; no children.

Hon. Emery Oliver Bean, son of Oliver and Patience (Nickerson) Bean, grandson of Elisha and great-grandson of Joshua Bean, was born in Readfield near the head of Lake Maranacook, September 10, 1819.

His boyhood did not differ materially from that of other children of his time. A good home, with the self-sacrificing tenderness of a mother's love, united with strict parental discipline, furnished the impetus to his life of usefulness. Work in plenty, and schooling a little beyond the average — a term at Kent's Hill Seminary, followed by two or three at Monmouth Academy — gave him a foundation on which to establish a good, practical education, and these together with an indomitable will power, and ambition to make a success of life, in its broadest meaning, enabled him readily to become an important factor in the growth and upbuilding of his native town. Having a natural inclination for the legal profession, he entered the office of Hon. Timothy O. Howe in Readfield and for many months devoted himself to acquiring a knowledge of the law, under the instruction of his gifted teacher. After admission to the bar in 1843, he went to Hallowell, where he was so fortunate as to spend a year with that master of the profession, Hon. Henry W. Paine. Following this he became a partner of Mr. Howe, practicing under the firm name of Howe & Bean until 1848, when Mr. Howe removed to Wisconsin. In 1876, Fred Emery Beane became a partner of his father, remaining in Readfield two years, practicing under the firm name of Bean & Beane, then opening an office in Hallowell, where the firm has continued practice, and also in the Readfield office, up to the present time.

Mr. Bean was married, October 8, 1844, to Miss Elizabeth Hunton Craig of Readfield. Two children were the result of this marriage — Nelson S., born July 18, 1845 and Fred Emery, born May 14, 1853. Mrs. Bean passed away January 22, 1892 and her son Nelson Shepard in April, 1900. June 28, 1896, a second marriage occurred, this time to Mrs. Georgia C. Nickerson, also a native of Readfield, the widow of H. Owen Nickerson. The little cottage in Readfield, one-half mile from his childhood's home, where so many years of his life have been spent, and endeared to him by its associations, this, with its surroundings, is one of the most attractive homes in town, speaking well for the loving care of its inmates. In politics Mr. Bean was a Whig, until the dissolution of the party, and ever after a Democrat. He represented his town in the State Legislature in 1851, and in 1856 served as State Senator.

In 1879 he was appointed a trustee of the "State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts," serving in that capacity seven years. In 1880 he was elected Judge of the Probate Court in Kennebec County by a plurality of six hundred; quite an honor, surely, for a Democrat in a county of from two to three thousand Republican majority.

He held the office four years, and no appeal from his decisions was sustained in the Supreme Court of Probate and only one in insolvency proceedings.

Almost every year since he reached his majority he has served in some office in his town, especially in the oversight and management of the public schools. Only one acquainted with the working of our New England town system can appreciate the importance and value of such service, for which one receives little compensation beyond the satisfaction of working for the public good and which, therefore, falls to the lot of only public spirited men.

For almost half a century, also, Mr. Bean has been a Freemason, and while he has not held office in the Grand Bodies, he has been active in maintaining the principles of that ancient and honorable institution and in the performance of the duties which it imposes upon its members in their every day life.

For almost sixty years he has been in actual practice of the law, and now at the age of eighty-three, his advice is sought by numerous clients.

In religion he is, and has always been, a staunch Universalist. He has ever been found faithful at his post of duty when the Church or Sunday School called. For more than forty years he has been superintendent of the Sabbath School, with all its fluctuations, its periods of growth, and of depression, being firm in his convictions of right and duty.

Many young people have gone out from the little vestry, after a period of years as scholars there, and have built homes in other states, and among other people, but still their hearts turn lovingly and gratefully back to the early days, the little school and the principles inculcated therein.

A home-loving man, his heart does not wander from the life-long scenes, but becomes more closely attached as time rolls on. His loving friends watch, with admiration, the activity, which yet is his, and trust that the day is far distant when he shall go out and in no more.

His wife is (1902) at the head of the Order of the Eastern Star, an organization composed of the wives, daughters and sisters of Freemasons, and exceedingly efficient in aiding their work.

IX. Dearborn Gorham Bean[8] (Dearborn[7], James[6], Joshua[5], Joshua[4]) was born March 24, 1834, at Bean's Corner, Jay, Maine. He was the son of Dearborn Bean and Lovina Butterfield, daughter of Isaac and Polly [Pease] Butterfield, the latter from Martha's Vineyard Mass., daughter of Abisha Pease. He married May 16, 1858, Rose Ann Winslow, daughter of Franklin and Rose Ann [Rowell] Winslow, b. February 24, 1836; d. March 24, 1895.

His father was the oldest of a family of thirteen children, a farmer and the son of a farmer. From those days of large families and rugged soil he inherited the disposition and capacity for work which characterized him. His father died when he was but five years old. Not long after his mother became the wife of his father's brother, Warren, toward whom, throughout the latter's life, he acted the part of a worthy son.

His early life and education were not unlike those of the farmers' sons of his day. He attended the town schools and also had four terms at the high school in Wilton under that excellent and inspiring teacher, Enos T. Luce, then a student at Bowdoin College, now Judge Luce of Waltham, Mass. Until twenty-one years of age he lived on the home farm. During these years the noble outlook from the sightly hill on which his home was situated aroused ambitions to go forth and share in the labors and rewards of a larger world. Under Mr. Luce he had studied surveying and received a diploma as a civil engineer. The west offered an alluring field to the young surveyor and he engaged himself to an experienced surveyor who was about to start for Iowa. Unfortunately for his plans this man who had set out before him, was taken sick and died upon his arrival at Dubuque, Iowa. His purpose to go west as a surveyor was thus thwarted for the time and finally gave place to other plans.

While still at home he had begun teaching school in the winters. This he continued until 1856, teaching in Jay, Wilton and Dixfield with marked success. He then entered the employ of Calvin Keyes, who was engaged in the manufacture of scythes at East Wilton. He acted as traveling salesman for him for about five years, when with Sewell Brown he assumed control of the business under the firm name of Bean and Brown. They did a successful business for two years until the opening of the Civil War when the firm was dissolved and the business discontinued.

Mr. Bean had for some years been interested in military matters. He had received a commission from Governor Lot M. Morrill, bearing date of June 29, 1858, as Second Lieutenant of Company A, Battalion of Artillery of First Brigade, and Eighth of Volunteer Militia of Maine. This company was discharged June 25, 1860. On June 2, 1863, he was commissioned as enrolling officer for the town of Jay. He went to headquarters at Lewiston with the men from his town where he was rejected by the medical examiners because of physical disabilities and discharged. His interest in the army continued throughout the war and in 1864 he visited the Army of the Potomac at Culpepper, Virginia.

From 1864 to 1867 he lived in Bangor, being employed by the firm of S. P. Bradbury & Co., as traveling salesman for their monumental works. In this business he gained a very thorough acquaintance with every part of Maine. From 1869 to 1874 he was in the employ of Hiram Holt & Co., at East Wilton, to which place he removed in 1871. The business was at first the manufacture of scythes, but later the firm acquired the patent rights of the "Lightning Hay Knife." Mr. Bean named, developed and introduced this valuable implement from the Atlantic to the Pacific, himself visiting twenty-eight states for this purpose. For three years he conducted the entire business in the absence of Mr. Holt. Until the expiration of the patent rights there was a large demand for these implements and a large amount of money was made in their manufacture.

Mr. Bean married Rose Ann Winslow of Jay, May 16, 1858. Their married life was most happy. Their large and beautiful home at East Wilton abounded with comfort and refinement. Although for many years an invalid, Mrs. Bean's cheerful and generous disposition made the home a place of delightful hospitality for their wide circle of friends from near and far. She died March 24, 1895. They had no children. Their home, however, was always shared by their nephew, Franklin Winslow Johnson, from whom they withheld nothing which they would have bestowed upon a son.

Mr. Bean has held numerous positions in civil and political life. He was first appointed Justice of the Peace May 8, 1872; Dedimus Justice, Dec. 24, 1884; Trial Justice, May 27, 1885. He was appointed Inspector of Prison and Jails, Feb. 23, 1880, for a term of four years by Governor Daniel F. Davis; at the expiration of this term he was again appointed for a similar period by Governor Frederick Robie. On March 26, 1889, he was appointed a member of the State Valuation Commission and was for two years engaged in a revaluation of the property, real and personal, of the State.

In politics he has always been an ardent Republican. For ten years he served as member of the Republican State Committee for Franklin County. His service on this committee brought him into intimate relation with the leading men of his party in the state. Among these were numbered Mr. Blaine, Mr. Dingley, Mr. Hamlin and Mr. Reed.

In the town of Wilton he has held many offices. He was for many years a member of the School Committee; for twenty successive years moderator at the town meetings; for many years one of the Selectmen, and for five years chairman of the board; for two years collector of taxes. His knowledge of men and of affairs has given him a position of prominence, and his advice on a great variety of subjects has been sought and valued.

He has never been a member of any church, but he has always been interested in and closely identified with the church at East Wilton. He has been foremost in the movement for a union church which has been so successful here, and has been one of the largest contributors for its support. He had much to do with the recent extensive improvements of the church building. He has given much attention to the care and beautifying of the cemetery and has been for many years president of East Wilton Cemetery Association, for the organization of which he was responsible. A man of marked public spirit, he has been identified with all good causes throughout his life; against all which was evil his face has been strongly set.

He has been for many years a Mason. He is a member of the Pilgrim Commandery of Farmington.

He has been greatly interested in seeking out the genealogy of his family. The local gathering of the Bean family was instituted by him and he was largely responsible for the larger organization of the descendants of John Bean (1660) of which he has been the secretary from the first. For many years he has been gathering genealogical material to which he has devoted much time and money.

Benjamin Franklin Bean[8] (Lyman,[7] Jeremy,[6] Joshua[5]) was born June 30, 1842, at Bean's Corner, Town of Jay, Franklin County, Maine. He was educated at the common schools at Bean's Corner. He enlisted as a soldier in the War of the Rebellion on September 10, 1862, in Company K, 28th Maine Volunteers. He did service with the company and regiment in the fall and winter of 1862–1863, in manning Fort Schuyler, Long Island Sound. The following January the regiment was sent south, going first to Warrington, Florida, and from there to New Orleans, Louisiana, and Donaldsonville, Port Hudson, Baton Rouge, and various other points along the Mississippi River, where they participated actively in the service until August, 1863, at which time the regiment was returned to Augusta, Maine, and was discharged by reason of the expiration of the term of service for which it was enlisted, viz.: nine months. He remained at home until the summer of 1867, at which time he went west, going to Waverly, Iowa, arriving there September 9, 1867. In the fall of 1869 he was appointed Deputy Sheriff of Bremer County, and continued to hold that office for four years. He afterwards engaged in the grain, live stock and produce business at Waverly, Iowa, and continued in the same business until the autumn of 1889. On October 6, 1889, he was appointed Chief Office Deputy United States Marshal for the Northern District of Iowa, under the administration of President Benjamin Harrison. He continued to hold this office until September 1, 1894, at which time he resigned. He was reappointed as Chief Office Deputy United States Marshal of the Northern District of Iowa under the administration of President William McKinley; also reappointed for the same position under the administration of President Theodore Roosevelt, which position he now holds.

Harry Lyman Bean[9] (Benjamin Franklin,[8] Lyman[7], Jeremy,[6] Joshua[5]) was born at Waverly, Iowa, March 16, 1876. He removed to Dubuque, Iowa, with his parents on November 6, 1889, and was educated in the public schools of Waverly and Dubuque, and business college at Dubuque. He removed from Dubuque on July 6, 1897 to Clinton, Illinois, to enter the service of the Illinois Central Railroad Company as clerk to Division Superintendent on that railroad. He left Clinton and removed to Chicago, Illinois, and served as accountant in the office of the Chief Engineer of the Illinois Central Railroad, which position he still holds.
